Directories are like folders. Their purpose is to organize files and create a path to find these files. Files can contain things like images, audio, or video. Directories will structurally organize these files.
VCS stands for Version Control System. It allows teams or groups of people to work on a project that is updated with the latestest modificaitons. It is great for communcation amongst groups. You are also able to see who and what made an update.
My favorite artist medium is charcoal on paper. I love to draw. I enjoy using acrilics and oil paints however sometimes I am impatients to let it dry. I like charcoal because I am ablet to layer it. With charcoal I can make all different intensities using black and white.
